JUAREZ CARD ATTRACTIVE

HORSES OF BETTER AVERAGE CLASS THAN USUAL CONTEST THE VARIOUS RACES.

Stellarina Proves a Disappointment in the Feature Race of the Afternoon—Charley McFerran Continues His Habit of Winning.

El Paso, Texas, December 5.—It was a good card that Racing Secretary Ed Jasper provided for the patrons of racing at Juarez this afternoon. All of the races carried selling conditions with the exception of the fourth, a five-furlong dash for two-year-olds, but the fields were of better calibre than usual and furnished sport that was highly enjoyable. The two-year-old race was an allowance affair and attracted to the post, among others, the useful eastern filly Stellarina and J. M. Shilling's Baby Cal. Stellarina evidently was far from being ready for the race, for she finished last, while Brooks, from the stable of Wade McEmore, took the measure of Baby Cal in a driving finish after having led all the way. Baby Cal was held at odds-on for the race.

The talent started the day auspiciously when Leford scored in the opening race as a favorite. He was in front all the way and had no serious opposition at the finish. Nannie McDee was a bad disappointment in the second. She was staunchly backed at short odds and finished last, while the improving Charley McFerran, making a show of his opposition, won off by himself. Royal Interest was held at odds-on for the third and got up at the end to beat Dixie Mina in a hard drive.

Busy Edith scored her third consecutive victory of the meeting for Frank D. Weir in the fifth race and Lady Innocence, well backed at long odds, got up to beat Lady Young, the favorite of the closing race.

Jockey O. Gentry was suspended by the stewards for five days for rough riding in the first race. The Texas Futurity will be run December 30. R. Ripley has purchased Oakland from E. J. O'Connell.

NOTES OF THE TURF FROM ABROAD.

The "Berliner Tageblatt" states that during thirty-seven days racing this year in Germany, $3,864,815 passed through the totalizator.

Several of Mr. J. B. Joel's horses have been sent from Newmarket to Childwickbury for the winter. Sunbury, Paeon, St. Anthony, Amandine and Chantarella left for Australia.

Lord Durham has given the name of Melissa to his crack two-year-old filly by Rochester—Melusine, and Mr. H. H. Hartigan's four-year-old gelding by Torpoint—Miss Bobs has been named Me.

The following horses, viz., Landweid, Syconphant, Falernus and Lady Gladys have been shipped to South Africa by the Galway Castle. Their despatch was superintended by the Ayr trainer, J. McQuigan, who has recently been given charge of Desmond's Hope, which cost $31,720 as a yearling, but has not yet run. The expensive son of Desmond and Silver Pheasant will be schooled over obstacles.

Mr. R. Craig-McKerrow left London November 19 en route for India. He will run some of his horses at the Calcutta races, which commence on Christmas eve, among them Silver Thrush and Lucky Thought. The former is entered for all the important events, including the King Emperor's Cup (one mile), the Cooch Behar Cup (one mile and a quarter), the Viceroy Cup (one mile and three-quarters), and the Metropolitan at three-quarters.

The stallion Perrier, which was bred by King Edward VII. at Sandringham, has achieved much fame in the Argentine as a stallion, his son, Packy, having won the classic Gran Premio Nacional of $100,000, and a cup to the winner, on October 17, from the flying Occurrence and seven others. The winner was bred by F. Arca, and was by a head. He belongs to Senor J. Arca, and is by Perrier (Cecil, by Boccage—Overdue, by Bend Or—Mezzotint, by Coeruleus. His sire is by Persimmon—Amphora.

Christmas day falling on a Saturday, the Johannesburg Turf Club summer meeting will be spread over an interval of thirteen days, inclusive, as the first fixture will fall on Saturday, December 18, and then Boxing day, Monday, December 27, concluding with the New Year day program. The South African Nursery is set for the same day as the Summer Handicap of $6,000, the juvenile event being worth a matter of $250 more. Of Boxing day the Goldfields Handicap is worth $2,500 and the South African Derby the same day should ensure an excellent card. On the concluding day the principal events are the South African Oaks of $3,750 and the Merchants Handicap of $2,000, with the Governor-General's Cup of $1,750 ($500 presented by his Excellency the Governor-General), Deborah, when the mail left, had evidently settled into a firm favorite for the South African Derby, with Zending next in demand, then Glist and Hector at a point longer.

THIRTY LEADING AMERICAN JOCKEYS.

With only the Juarez track in operation since last Tuesday, results achieved in the saddle have been mainly restricted to the group of jockeys riding there. No great scores were made by any rider, J. McCabe and A. Mott leading their rivals with a credit of three winning mounts each. Those credited with two winners are J. Metcalf. When racing Taggart, R. Havana December 16, another detachment of riders will come into action and the table of weekly results will swell. At present the records of our thirty most successful jockeys of 1915 are:

MONETARY RETURNS REAPED FOR W. H. BAKER BY AMAZON AND HER STABLE MATES

In the Yankee filly, Amazon, W. H. Baker possessed and raced this year a young mare of such speed and reliability that any owner might justifiably have envied him. Only three times unplaced in twenty races, she won eleven of them and was his best money winner. If no ill befalls her she should be good to follow in the racing of 1916. Baker had other good money earners, the sprinter, Roscoe Goose, and the high-class selling plate, Sleeth, being especially effective contributors. Sleeth was in extra good form in the fall and won his last four races in succession. Two old-timers, Royal Tea and White Wool, and the four-year-old Transit, as well, raced creditably and each gathered more than $1,000 for him. The stable had no winning two-year-old in its makeup, but on the whole did extremely well, as the following record shows:

HORSES WHICH GAVE A RESPECTED KENTUCKY TURFMAN A PLACE IN THE FRONT RANK OF WINNING OWNERS

Owners vouchsafed the proud satisfaction of embracing two winners of more than $10,000 in their string this year were few. It fell to Thomas C. McDowell to enjoy that singular pleasure in what was probably his most successful year, financially, as a turfman. The two capital mares, Star Jasmine and Waterblossom, were his money-earning stars. The older of the two, Star Jasmine, has always been able to pay her way in good company, but this year she fairly surpassed herself. The fleet-footed Waterblossom was probably only second to Regret among the three-year-old fillies of the year and, keeping in mind Mr. McDowell's extremely good fortune with high-class mares, should prove able to do great things for him in the racing of next year. In checks he had one of the good two-year-olds of western racing and one that was racing in fine form at the end of his campaign, always a hopeful augury of excellence as a three-year-old. The stable record was:

WHAT WILLIAM GARTH'S HORSES GAINED FOR HIM IN THE RACING OF 1915

The Virginia turfman and expert developer of jumping horses, William Garth, generally contrives to more than cover expenses in his annual racing campaigns and has good reason to view his stable returns of this year with complacency. Exton did extremely well for him this year and promises to play the part of a star in cross-country competition in 1916, but not in his colors, having been sold for a fat price. Star of Love, Humility, Stucco, Stake and Cap and the two-year-old filly, Greetings, each won more than $1,000 for him and any horse which does that more than pays its way. Others in the stable did well also and its quite satisfactory return of money won was:

HORSES WHICH WERE VICTORIOUS IN ONE OR MORE STAKE RACES IN 1915

If fine old gelding Borrow had not won the Kentucky Handicap at Douglas Park last May he would not now figure as the premier stake race winning horse of the year. But he did and he is. For another "it" proposition, if Dominant, in the running of the Grand Union Hotel Stakes at Saratoga, had been able to hold his stretch lead but a few feet more he and not Borrow would have been the chief winner of the year. But his 130 pounds to her 104 enabled Puss in Boots to get up and snatch a triumph away from him in the last stride. Hence he is only second. Values are referred to in their cases. In number of stake races which he either won or was placed in, Stomboli was easily first, with that good colt, The Finn, second. The champion of the year, Rosmer, and the good western handicap horse, Hodge, were close together in their stake race earnings. Peerless Regret started only twice, but winning the Kentucky Derby gave her a good place in the list, just as his well-earned victory in the Latonia Derby served the good, but unlucky colt, Royal II. Other horses were bound by force of circumstances to achieve their success in stake races of comparatively smaller values, and right well did such as Star Jasmine, Bulse, Prince Hermis, George Smith, Dodge, Waterblossom and others of merit race to gain such measures of good fortune as fell to them. The records in stake racing of every horse which captured one or more of such races is here presented:

KING EDWARD'S FAVORITE

SOME ACCOUNT OF PERSIMMON AND HIS CONTESTS WITH HIS RIVAL, ST. FRUSQUIN.

Remarkable Demonstration Following His Victory in the Derby—His Easy Triumphs in the Doncaster St. Leger and Ascot Gold Cup.

The late King Edward had been racing a good many years before he became possessed of an animal worthy of wearing the royal livery; but in the 'nineties there came along three colts—all by St. Simon out of that wonderful mare Perdita II—all of which in turn carried the yoke and scarlet jacket with considerable distinction. The first of the trio to arrive was Florizel II., which won the Manchester Cup and other races, and the last was Diamond Jubilee, which won the triple crown in 1900.

In between, in the year 1893, to be precise, the greatest of the famous brothers made his appearance, and was in due course given the name of Persimmon, a name which recalls extraordinary scenes of enthusiasm at Epsom on a certain summer afternoon nearly twenty years ago. That Persimmon was a good colt had been amply proved on the trial ground prior to his introduction to a race course. This was deferred to the Ascot meeting, the royal colt making his debut in the Coventry Stakes, in which he justified his private reputation by racing home three lengths in front of Meli Melo, with Gulistan third.

Prior to his next essay, in the Richmond Stakes at Goodwood, Persimmon was subjected to a trial with the speedy Ugly, the result of which made it more than clear that the obvious was the real thing, a race horse of the first order, and he won the Goodwood event with ease. His next race was the Middle Park Plate, in which he sustained his first defeat, finishing third to St. Frusquin and Omladina, being four lengths behind the latter. It is probable, however, that Persimmon, which had been coughing previously, was not his usual self on that occasion.

Persimmon was not seen again until the Epsom summer carnival of the following year. In the meantime the Middle Park Plate winner, St. Frusquin, had added to his laurels, having opened his second season with a victory in the Column Produce Stakes in the Craven Week, and a further of greater importance, the Two Thousand, in which he treated such as Love Wisely and Labrador as though they were hacks.

Small wonder, then, that Mr. Leopold de Rothschild's colt was a good favorite for the Derby, odds of 13 to 8 being laid on him, though Persimmon had no end of supporters. The event, indeed, was regarded as in the nature of a match between the pair, and this subsequently proved to be the correct view. The race was worthy of the greatness of the occasion. Towards the end the rest of the opposition had been disposed of for all practical purposes. St. Frusquin was leading, but it was seen that Persimmon was gaining, and less than a hundred yards from the post he was in front. Then the cheering commenced, but St. Frusquin still stuck to it, and when the judge's box had been passed it was only a neck advantage that Persimmon held. This was sufficient, however, and the populace, the classes, and the masses, let themselves go. The Royal owner, who led the winner back to the weighing-room, was naturally delighted, while his subjects were jubilant. It was a great day. The winner was ridden by John Watts, who had ridden many fine races in his time, but never a better one than that historic occasion.

The Derby battle was refought at Newmarket a month later, when the leading pair, a Epsom, together with Sir Visto, Troon, and a lesser number of others, competed for the Princess of Wales' Stakes. St. Frusquin, which was in receipt of three pounds, was again preferred to Persimmon, but Regret, which was receiving weight from both, was actual favorite. Another fine contest between the Derby winner and second was witnessed, though it was scarcely so thrilling as the previous race, and in the end Mr. L. de Rothschild's colt held a half-length advantage over Persimmon when the winning post was reached, with Regret a like distance away third.

Persimmon was given no further opportunity of measuring strides with St. Frusquin, as the latter failed to stand his preparation for the St. Leger, the Doncaster race drying up somewhat disappointingly. Nothing better than Labrador opposed the royal champion on the Town Moor. Odds of 11 to 2 were demanded from those who desired to support the Derby winner, Labrador being second favorite at 6 to 1 against, while the only other competitor quoted—Funny Boat—stood on the 66 to 1 mark. As expected, Persimmon gained a comfortable victory from Labrador, with the Duke of Westminster's second string, Rampion, a bad third.

Another easy victory was recorded by St. Simon's son in the Jockey Club Stakes in the autumn. Here he was opposed by Sir Visto, Knight of the Thistle, Laveno Kirkconnell, Regret, Bay Ronald—which achieved later fame as the sire of Bayardo—the Lombard, and others, but only the Derby winner of the previous year could make the slightest impression upon Persimmon, and Lord Rosebery's four-year-old was two lengths behind the winner when the race had been won and lost.

Persimmon reappeared as a four-year-old on the course on which he made his debut. The race in which he took part was the Gold Cup, and in this he had as rivals Winkfield's Pride, which had won the Cambridgeshire the previous October, Limasol, the first of his progeny being the brilliant Sceptre, which won the whole of the classic races except the Derby in 1902.

Other famous animals sired by Persimmon were Zinfandel, an Ascot Cup winner; Keystone II. and Perola, Oaks winners; Your Majesty and Prince Palatine, St. Leger winners; and Royal Realm. These by no means exhaust the list.

Four times in all Persimmon headed the list of winning sires, while he twice filled third position. His career was brought to a close as the result of an accident. While out at exercise he fell, and though the mishap did not appear to be serious, it was eventually discovered that he had fractured his pelvis. Hopes were entertained of saving him, but after appearing to make improvement, he again became worse and died in the February of 1908 at the age of fifteen years.—"J. F. P." in London Sporting Life.

WILL BRING RESUMPTION OF RACING.

Empire City Track Will Be Back in Metropolitan Circuit Next Season as Result of Court Decision.

New York, December 5.—The decision of Justice Morschauser, just rendered at White Plains, annulling the National Fair and Exposition Association's lease of the Empire City race track, is expected to result in the resumption of racing at that track next summer under the auspices of the Empire City Racing Association, to which organization possession of the property now reverts.

The contention of James Butler and his associates, on which the lease was broken, was that the lessees had not held a fair for thirty days each year, as was provided in the lease, and that the herding of war horses on the property was in direct violation of the terms of the contract.

Judge John F. Brennan, who appeared for Mr. Butler, claimed that a real Greater New York Fair, as advertised, was never held by the National Fair and Exposition Association, and in directing the verdict Justice Morschauser found the following facts:

"First, that the holding of a fair in 1913 advertised from August 2 to August 30, but held from August 4 to 16, inclusive, was not a compliance with the agreement of defendant in the lease to hold at its own expense the Greater New York Fair and Exposition, an agricultural, live stock and amusement enterprise, said fair and exposition to be held each year during the month of August, but if occasion demands may start with the third week in July and continue through the second week of September, the intention being to run thirty days, more or less.

"Second, that the holding of a fair in 1914 from September 17 to September 26 was not a compliance with the agreement of the defendant in the lease to hold at its own expense the Greater New York Fair and Exposition, an agricultural, live stock and amusement enterprise, said fair and exposition to be held each year during the month of August, but if occasion demands may start with the third week in July and continue through the second week of September, the intention being to run thirty days, more or less.

"Third, that the holding of a fair in 1915, advertised from August 31 to September 6, but really held from August 31 to September 3 and on September 6, was not in character or time a compliance with the agreement of the defendant in the lease to hold at its own expense the Greater New York Fair and Exposition, an agricultural, live stock and amusement enterprise, said fair and exposition to be held each year during the month of August, but if occasion demands may start with the third week in July and continue through the second week of September, the intention being to run thirty days, more or less.

"Fourth, that the herding of war horses to the extent of twenty-seven or twenty-nine thousand and upward at the grounds of the plaintiff described in the lease by the defendant, the National Fair and Exposition Association, Inc., between March 16, 1915, and August 14, 1915, until after a motion made by plaintiff and argued by a special master of the Supreme Court on July 31 last, for an injunction restraining such use, was without approval of plaintiff and was a violation of the terms and covenants of the lease.

"Fifth, I direct that you find upon each and all of said grounds a verdict in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant for the premises claimed in the complaint in favor of the plaintiff.

Attorney Davis announced after the verdict that he would carry an appeal to the Appellate Division on behalf of the National Fair and Exposition Association.

Judge Brennan opposed granting a stay to the National Association pending the appeal, as he said it would tie up property worth $250,000. Argument on this motion will be held next Wednesday.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES OF THE DAY.

Expenditure of more than $27,000,000 in furtherance of German interests in this country, including the effort to foment a new revolution in Mexico headed by Huerta, with the hope of involving the United States, was accounted for in a report of government agents in New York, which was mailed to Washington early Friday morning. The report was a voluminous document, which treated in detail various projects of German officials and German agents. It arrived in Washington after the recall of Captain Boy-Ed and Captain von Papen had been asked, but it was predicted today that the report would probably lead to further action by the State Department against other official and semi-official representatives of the German and Austrian governments. Much of the report is devoted to the recall of the German and Austrian governments. The German official, who has been exposed as the official chief of the German propaganda in this country, German agents who reported to Dr. Albert and to Captains Boy-Ed and von Papen have been shadowed for months by United States secret service men acting under the orders of William C. Offy, chief of the bureau of investigation at the Department of Justice in New York City. The distribution of the $27,000,000 was as follows: Twelve million dollars for the purpose of a counter-revolution in Mexico. Five million dollars for the Bridgeport Projectile company. Three million dollars for secret service and detective work. Three million dollars for lectures, press bureaus and certain foreign language publications. Five hundred thousand dollars for German sea raiders. One million five hundred thousand dollars for miscellaneous expenses.

A dispatch of Saturday night from London says: Roumania today gave notice to the world that she is ready to strike in the great tangle in the Balkans. On what side the magnificent army of King Ferdinand, 500,000 of the finest and best equipped troops in Europe, will strike, only the great chancellors, and even they may not be in the secret of the wily Balkan diplomats. All steamships, barges, tugs and other vessels found in Roumanian harbors on Monday will be seized by the government "in the interests of national defense," according to an official announcement made by the Roumanian cabinet in Bucharest today. All ships, whether Roumanian or foreign, will be requisitioned. This action by Roumania overshadowed every other development in the Balkan situation tonight. News of this warlike movement was telegraphed here on the heels of reports from Athens, apparently confirmed in Berlin dispatches, that King Constantine was about to give a satisfactory reply to the allies. It gave rise to fresh hopes that Roumania is about to cast her lot with the allies. Only a few foreign vessels are now in Roumanian Black sea ports. It is believed here the order is aimed principally at Bulgarian and Austro-German cargo boats, carrying munitions and foodstuffs along the Danube. Should Roumania suddenly enter the war on the side of the entente allies, her first move probably would be to seize the vessels to aid in transporting Russian troops up the Danube into Bulgaria. A message from Saloniki says two French air squadrons bombarded German and Bulgarian camps near Strumitsa and Uskub effectively today. They returned safely to the allied lines despite a hot fire.

An Amsterdam dispatch says that treachery on the part of Arab tribesmen when Bagdad was within their grasp caused the rout of the British forces in Mesopotamia, according to Berlin advices. Hordes of Arabs met their way up the Tigris with the British under General Townshend almost to the gates of Bagdad. Arab scouts, sent ahead of the British forces, reported only comparatively small bodies of Turkish troops defending Bagdad. At the crucial moment in the battle near Ctesphion the Arabs turned upon the British, according to his dispatch received by the Berlin Vossische Zeitung. An official dispatch from the Turkish war office described the defeat of the British as a rout. The Turks have pursued the fleeing British nearly 100 miles down the Tigris to within a few miles of their base at Kut-el-Amara, and are continuing their attacks. An official report adds: "We captured two transport ships on the Tigris, loaded with food and two monitors. A late message from Constantinople claims a fresh success for the Turkish army in Mesopotamia, stating that it has captured two additional British gunboats, equipped with 15-centimeter guns.

Thirty-one of the fifty-four men indicted as labor slingers and conspirators appeared in the Criminal Court Saturday and gave bonds for their release. Acceptance of bail was accompanied by much confusion, because of a difference of understanding between lawyers representing the defendants and assistants of State's Attorney Hoyne as to what Chief Justice Richard C. Burke had decided on bonds. The men who gave themselves up and were released on bonds were: L. P. Lindelof, William Geimer, Charles W. Hanson, Franz Garber, Julius Chuttenstein, Don L. Bernard, Ray Clancy, Jack Kelly, Frank Curran, Charles Gibard, H. H. Grass, Isadore Gordon, Elmer H. Hitt, John B. Johnson, William Klemz, Edward Kenney, William E. Nestor, Nick Pekelsma, Lawrence Simon, Thomas Shepherd, Ray C. Stewart, Richard Shields, George Tuckbreiter, John Tullison, Hugo Hahn, Hyman Kellman, Tom Kelly, J. W. Murphy, Tom Redding, Roy Shields and Walter Steyer.

Officials of the large Philadelphia refineries say the public will be forced to pay at least ten cents a pound for granulated sugar in the next three months, as a result of conditions arising from the war.

Premier Asquith, Lord Kitchener, the first lord of the admiralty, Mr. Balfour and British naval and military advisers conferred at Calais with the French premier and ministers of war and marine. It was officially announced Saturday night. It was
